Re: United States v. Oyewale Olanibi
07 Cr. 899 (VM)

Your Honor:

I apologize for my failure to file motions due January 9th and not requesting an extension before hand. The voluminous amount of material required to be reviewed and analyzed in this case as well as the press of other business accounts for these failures but, of course, do not excuse them.

On the government's consent (by Antonia M. Apps, Esq., AUSA, Tel. 212 637-2198) we respectfully request an extension for the filing of motions to no later than January 28, 2008, with a concomitant extension of the government's response February 11 and a possible reply from us February 18, 2008.

Your Honor had set February 29 as a control date based on the originally set briefing schedule. We do not believe that this date need be disturbed because of this application but, of course, leave the matter in your hands.

We consent to whatever further exclusion of time may be necessary if Your Honor adjusts the next conference date for later because of this application.

I apologize once again.
